

The National Strategy on Education for Sustainable Development concludes this year and a formal consultation process on the next strategy will be held in 2021.

This event will explore recent changes in the policy context and provide participants with an opportunity to:

- Reflect on progress made under the current National Strategy in Higher Education, Research and Sustainability in Action
- Input to the priorities for the next National Strategy on ESD

Information on how to engage in the formal consultation process in 2021 will be shared.
